

Case Study: The Green Room

Industry: Event Production

Location: San Diego, CA

Challenge

TGR had contractual obligations to safeguard privileged client information. Accessing sensitive data to organize events on their clients' behalf required TGR to implement essential security measures and maintain documented evidence of these systems, available for client review upon request.

Solution

Instead of relying on a mix of common security measures, we implemented a well-established cybersecurity standard known for its comprehensive and balanced approach. We documented the application of this standard, along with the procedures to maintain and monitor it on behalf of our clients, for thorough record-keeping.

Results

We produced the necessary documentation to validate TGR's adherence to the required cybersecurity standards during a mandatory security review conducted by one of TGR's clients. Additionally, we actively participated in the review process, providing requested evidence of the security measures we had implemented, leading to a swift and successful outcome. The implementation and maintenance of these security standards have also significantly enhanced TGR's resilience against cyber threats. Moreover, there have been documented security incidents that were effectively thwarted thanks to the security controls in place.
